TERRELL STRIKES BACK AT REEDY

Wants Special Criminal Court and
District Attorney to Investigate
Lawlessness in Smith County.

Special to the Eagle.
Austin, Texas, May 3.—Terrell of Bexar, introduced a resolution in the house today denouncing the lynching at Tyler last Saturday of the negro, Jim Hodges, because the victim of the mob was not proven guilty of the crime of which he was accused. Terrell took to task the representative from Smith, for his efforts to reform the citizenship of San Antonio, saying that at the very time he was engaged in this work the lynching was occurring in Tyler.

Terrell's resolution calls on Governor Campbell to submit a measure providing for a criminal district court for Smith county to prosecute "reckless violations of the law," and provides that the governor appoint an assistant district attorney to lead the investigation.

The resolution was referred to the committee on state affairs after objection was made to a second reading.

The house this morning considered the bill creating a tuberculosis commission with an appropriation of five thousand dollars to investigate the disease and seek a cure. The measure was killed by adopting an amendment, offered by Ray, striking out the enacting clause.

RAILROAD WILL FILE ANSWER.

Special to the Eagle.
Waco, Texas, May 3.—The management of the Texas Central railroad today announced that as soon as the attorney of the road returns to the city he will file an answer to the Eastland county suit, which asks nearly six million dollars damages for alleged violations of the Jim Crow law.

The railroad people are deeply stirred and the management says they will fight the case to the last ditch.

BITTER FEELING OVER JIM CROW SUIT

Denunciation and Recrimination. Will Fight Case to Last Ditch.

Special to the Eagle.
Eastland, Texas, May 3.—When advised that General Manager Hamilton of the Texas Central had denounced the suit for nearly six million dollars brought against the railroad as a "political grand stand play," the result of demagoguery, County Attorney Dabney today entered a strong denial of Hamilton's charges, and declared that the suit will be prosecuted vigorously. Dabney alleges that the railroad has violated the Jim Crow law.

This case has divided the people into factions and bitter enmity is growing up between them.

MUST COME BACK TO A. AND M. COLLEGE.

Special to the Eagle.
Austin, Texas, May 2.—The appropriation bill as passed by the house carried this rider to the budget for the Agricultural and Mechanical College:

"Provided, that the director of experiment stations shall reside at College Station."

The director of experiment stations, Dr. H. H. Harrington, moved away from College Station and took up his residence in Fort Worth when he resigned the presidency of the college last summer.

The act passed by the Legislature at the first called session, providing for the establishment of additional experiment stations, sought to place the control of all stations in the hands of a new board, consisting of the governor, lieutenant governor and commissioner of agriculture, rather than in the hands of the Agricultural and Mechanical Board, as formerly, providing the director of the stations. This bill complicated the situation, but it has been suggested that the government appropriation from the Hatch fund would not be available unless the experiment station at College was operated under the control of the college board.

And now the appropriation bill as passed by the house makes the maintenance appropriations for the three existing stations available only upon condition that the director shall live at College.—Special to Galveston News.

MYSTERIOUS DOUBLE MURDER.

Special to the Eagle.
Nacogdoches, Texas, May 3.—Following an investigation today, the authorities make the sensational charge that Odie Hillon and George Blackey were murdered by the same party Friday night.

At first it was believed that Hillon killed Blackey and that he himself was killed by a train while trying to escape. It was discovered in the investigation that Hillon's skull was crushed similarly to Blackey's. The latter's body was thrown into a camp fire and Hillon's body was thrown on the railroad track in the effort to conceal the crime. It is known that the two dead men were with a third party.

The authorities have a strong clue and arrests are expected soon. The officers of Augellena and Nacogdoches counties are working on the case. The grand jury of Augellena county has summoned one hundred witnesses.
